

This is an ongoing and active investigation and Commissioner Noonan and I have made it clear to everyone at both of our agencies that we are determined to quickly respond to any new witnesses or additional information that may appear.

Sandusky was taken into custody this past Saturday in Centre County and is currently awaiting a preliminary hearing.

Defendants Curley and Schultz are both scheduled to appear for preliminary arraignment today in Harrisburg.

The case against Sandusky is being prosecuted in Centre County because that is where the sexual assaults allegedly occurred.

The case against Curley and Schultz is being prosecuted in Harrisburg - Dauphin County – because that is where they allegedly made false statements to the investigating grand jury."

Pennsylvania State Police Commissioner Frank Noonan had the following additional comments:

"This is not about a football team or a university; it is about child sexual abuse and the culture that allowed it to continue. These children are scarred for life.

Child sexual abuse is a serious crime and I assure you, the PA State Police will listen. If you or someone you know is a victim of sexual abuse, I leave you with three words: Nine – One – One."

(A person charged with a crime is presumed innocent until proven guilty.)
